

Victorian Government case study

Examples of possible Inquiry requests for information

These likely Queensland examples have been informed by requests received by the Victorian Government from the Victorian Yoo-rrook Justice Commission.

General requests that may apply to multiple agencies

Example: Provide to the Inquiry relevant documentation and information about the theft, misappropriation and destruction of cultural knowledge and property.

Requests that may be more specific to particular agencies

Example: Provide to the Inquiry relevant documentation and information about unfair policies and practices relating to policing, youth and criminal justice, incarceration, detention and the broader legal system

Example: Provide to the Inquiry relevant documentation and information about unfair policies and practices relating to health and healthcare.

Requests that may be particularly relevant to DSDSATSIP as the agency responsible for Queensland's historical 'Protection Acts', but evidence of which likely also permeated across agencies

Example: Provide to the Inquiry relevant documentation and information about protectionist and assimilationist policies, including forced removal of children and attempts to eradicate language, culture or identity.

Some requests may be specific to regions, locations or time periods

Example: Provide to the Inquiry relevant documentation and information on Government practices at Cherbourg and their impacts.

Designs adapted from original artwork by First Nations artists Chern'ee Sutton, Kalkadoon woman, and Laurie Nona, Badhulayg, Maluyligal, Guda Maluyligal and Meriam Nation man.

Queensland
Government